Texas Inventor to Exhibit “(Travel Size) Personal Dental Flosser” at America’s Largest Invention Show

PITTSBURGH... InventHelp’s INPEX®, America’s Largest Invention Trade Show, announces that Steven Riegle, from College Station, Texas, has invented a personal dental-care accessory to make flossing away from home easier. This patent-pending invention will be exhibited at INPEX® 2008, June 11-14, in downtown Pittsburgh.

Who doesn’t like to go out to eat? The problem can arise when something gets stuck in the gums or teeth, and you have no way of getting it out. The “(Travel Size) Personal Dental Flosser” would help people to maintain good oral hygiene after eating away from home. It’s portable, lightweight design would be quicker and easier to use than conventional dental floss, and according to the inventor, would be safer than using a toothpick.

The (Travel Size) Personal Dental Flosser would be battery-operated and would feature a wheel covered in short nylon bristles. A removable, protective cap would also be included to ensure that the flosser stays clean while in a purse or bag. To use, an individual would simply push the power button, the wheel would spin, and the user would move the wheel across and between their teeth and along the gum line to remove plaque and food.

The inventor came up with the idea because of his own personal observations. “Dental floss isn’t always convenient to use, especially for those who are away from home,” he said. “I felt that ‘on the go’ individuals should have an easier way to clean their teeth and gums properly.”

Mr. Riegle is exhibiting at INPEX® with the hopes of finding a manufacturer or distributor.

INPEX®, The Invention Show, is a unique trade show that showcases new products and innovations that are available to business and industry to manufacture, license or distribute. As part of the tradeshow, The Invention Show sponsors INPEX® Inventors University™, a series of seminars, presentations, and panel discussions to provide information that inventors may find useful in pursuing their ideas. This year, INPEX® will be held at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center in downtown Pittsburgh, the world’s largest “green,” environmentally-friendly building.
