Florida Inventor to Exhibit “Handwash Reminder” at America’s Largest Invention Show

PITTSBURGH... InventHelp’s INPEX®, America’s Largest Invention Trade Show, announces that Daniel and Susan Pratts from Kissimmee, FL, has invented a device that continuously stresses the importance of handwashing. This invention will be exhibited at INPEX® 2010, June 16-18, Booth #631, at the Monroeville Convention Center in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The “Handwash Reminder” is a device that gets mounted on a bathroom ceiling and through a pre-recorded message, automatically reminds you to ‘Please don’t forget to wash your hands’ as you enter and exit the bathroom.

While this device helps to prevent the spread of germs, bacteria and viruses, it also stresses the importance of washing hands before leaving the bathroom. Constructed of heavy duty plastic, motion sensor technology and a pre-recorded message, this invention is currently being sold for $29.99 on www.handwashreminder.com and requires three AA batteries, which are included.

“Constantly having to remind my children to wash their hands became a chore. We currently have the Handwash Reminder’s in our home and it has been beneficial for me and most importantly, our children,” said the inventors.

Daniel and Susan Pratts are exhibiting at INPEX® with the hopes of finding a distributor and licensee.

InventHelp’s INPEX®, The Invention Show, is a unique trade show that showcases new products and innovations that are available to business and industry to manufacture, license or distribute. As part of the trade show, The Invention Show sponsors INPEX® Inventors University™, a series of seminars, presentations, and panel discussions to provide information that inventors may find useful in pursuing their ideas. This year, INPEX® will be held at the Monroeville Convention Center, a brand new facility just minutes from downtown Pittsburgh.
