3. Initiatives Concerning the Prevention of Slavery and Human Trafficking

Respect of Human Rights through Business Risk Assessments

The Group voluntarily adopts the International Finance Corporation (IFC) Performance Standard and conducts studies on the possible environmental and social impact — including labor issues and the impact on human rights of its business activities in the areas where the Group operates. The Group first identifies the risks and then takes the appropriate actions, such as avoiding, mitigating or monitoring these risks.

Supply Chain Management

The Group is engaged in business activities with a variety of stakeholders including suppliers and joint venture partners.

The Group operates in Japan, Australia, Indonesia, Norway and Malaysia. Each of its operator projects requires supply chain management to supply goods and services.

The Group spends approximately 290 billion yen per year to procure goods and services from approximately 2,100 suppliers, while managing supply chain risks.

In carrying out procurement activities, all officers and employees strive to comply with relevant laws, social norms and Sustainability Principles, in accordance with internal rules governing ethical procurement. The Group also requests its suppliers to respect the content of the principles included in the Human Rights Policy in the application and execution of contracted works. Also, the Group has formulated its Supplier Code of Conduct. This Supplier Code of Conduct outlines our expectations including human rights and labour rights of suppliers to strive for sustainability throughout supply chain. Furthermore, the Guideline for the Supplier Code of Conduct, which outlines concrete measures for each of our suppliers to conduct business in a manner that is expected in the Supplier Code of Conduct, has been formulated.

INPEX conducts annual assessments using CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) self-assessment surveys, focusing mainly on suppliers with the highest order volumes. In FY2025, based on the results of our human rights due diligence, INPEX substantially revised the survey to expand the scope of our review of the salient risks the group identified. INPEX added questions on human rights and labor, occupational health and safety, procurement practices, local communities, the environment, compliance, and other topics. This allowed us to conduct environmental, social, and governance assessments that go beyond compliance items in the Supplier Code of Conduct. In addition, INPEX conducted second-party audits led by us, using our CSR self-assessment surveys in FY2025 as well as in FY2024. Furthermore, INPEX regularly conducts third-party on-site audits at plants, construction sites, and other locations using external consultants' standards developed based on international standards such as the ILO conventions and SA8000, from the perspectives of the environment, society (labor, wages and working hours, and health and safety), and management systems.

Also, since FY2023, the Group has held the Supplier Forum, explained our CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) self-assessment surveys and CSR audits, while requesting their cooperation.

Educational Activities and Whistle-Blowing System

The Group provides for the respect and upholding of human rights in its Human Rights Policy, Business Principles and Code of Conduct, which all officers and employees are required to comply with, and strives to enhance the awareness of officers and employees through its intranet. The group regularly conducts training for our employees to strengthen employees' compliance awareness, reduce the risk of harassment and misconduct, and prevent compliance violations. In FY2025, —to improve communication within organizations, with the assistance of external lecturers, INPEX conducted interactive compliance training—including opinion exchange, group discussions, and case studies—delivered to employees from different job levels and departments. Also, the group proactively promotes employee education on compliance including human rights by conducting internal survey and publishing internal newsletters on compliance issues. In addition, the Group promotes whistle-blowing by providing officers and employees with a Helpline consisting of both internal and external desks, as well as the INPEX Global Hotline(*) under its whistle-blowing system (<https://www.inpex.com/english/sustainability/governance/compliance/>). Serious compliance violations are dealt with in the appropriate manner and disclosed in the INPEX sustainability report issued annually. The Group also reports annually through the sustainability report the performance data related to human rights.

(*) In June 2020, INPEX established the INPEX Global Hotline which supplemented the already existing Helpline. The purpose of the Global Hotline is to detect and immediately correct compliance violations in relation to three areas: (1) bribery and corruption, (2) antitrust laws (competition laws), and (3) accounting fraud, which are the risks assessed to be particularly high for our business.

4. Future Efforts

The Group will ensure it fulfills its social responsibilities to the local communities in which it conducts business and contributes to the creation of a sustainable society through prioritizing protection of health and safety of stakeholders as well as ongoing in-house training on human rights issues and enhanced human rights management including the prevention of slavery and human trafficking in its whole supply chain. For those human rights risks confirmed in its human rights due diligence in FY2024, the Group will undertake continuous monitoring. Also, for human rights issues that may have latent risks, the Group works to strengthen prevention measures.
